THE FOLLOWING IS A BRIEF STATEMENT OF THAT BRANCH OF THE BELL FAMILY WHICH CAME TO AMERICA ABOUT 1754 AND SETTLED IN MIFFLIN COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA

The Bells were originally Normans and their Norman name was "La Bel," old French, "the beautiful". They came over to England with William, the Conqueror in the Eleventh Century. In their history they settled at Lanark, Scotland. From there they largely emigrated to Ballygawley, in the County of Tyrone, PROVINCE OF ULSTER, Ireland, and settled on Crown lands at that place, where they remained about two generations before emigrating to America. Little is known of their history prior to coming to America, except that they were armor bearing and their armor was designed as follows:

THREE CHURCH BILLS AND OF THEIR CHESTS A HAWK BELLED

They were by faith orthodox Presbyterians.

William Bell, the paternal ancestor of our branch of the family was born in Ireland and died in Mifflin County, Pennsylvania, April 5th, 1819, aged eighty-eight years; Elizabeth Stewart, his consort, born in Ireland, died in the same place October 17th, 1825, aged eighty-eight years, but I have no information whether or not they were married in Ireland or in this country. There is a tradition in family which has been handed down, that she was of Royal blood. The Clan Stewart of Scotland contain the Royal House of Scotland. See history of Scottish Clan.^s

It is said that William Bell operated a still prior to his coming to America, which was considered a high occupation at that time. However, owing to religious conviction, he abandoned the occupation after coming to this country. The traditional history of the family is to the effect that they were at one time refugees from the Indians during one of the massacres of the early settlers in Pennsylvania. My Uncle James B. Bell showed me an Irish Bull-Eye watch that he carried at that time, which stopped running when they were wading one of the rivers of that section as they were fleeing from the Indians. There is a tradition that he was present at the time of Braddock's defeat, but what part he took in the battle is not known. That he served in the Revolutionary War having enlisted as a private in Captain Tuttles Company, and was discharged from the service as a major of his Regiment. The record of his enlistment is on file in the Capitol Building of the State of Pennsylvania. The National records were burned by the British in the War of 1812, so we have no record there. After the war he served for many years as Justice of the Peace in his home County, which office was considered quite an honor at that time. During this period he and John Williams organized the Huntington Presbytery and he was one of the ruling elders. See History of Huntington Presbytery.

He was the father of a large family of children, which appear in the first census taken by the United States Government in 1790, and are as follows:

Mary, born November, 1760.
Arthur, born September, 1762.
Elizabeth, born August, 1764.
Robert, born October, 1766.
David, born July, 1769.
Queen, born July, 1773.
William, born September, 1775.
Sarah, born September, 1777.
Anne, born May, 1778.
Dinah, born 1779.
Robert, born March, 1783.
Davis Bell, born April 11th, 1769, departed this life May, 1835, and was married to Agnes Allen April 27th, 1800. Their offsprings are as follows:
Dinah Bell, born August 24th, 1801.
Joseph Allen, born July 24th, 1803.
William Turner, born August 1st, 1806.
Sarah Matilda, born December 29th, 1807.
David Stewart, born November 15th, 1811.
Sarah, born July 26th, 1814.
Elizabeth, born March 16th, 1816.
Robert Samuel, born 1818.
Thomas Mitchell, born October 19th, 1820.
Nancy Maria, born April 25th, 1821.
James Boyd, born October 11th, 1823.
Agnes Allen was lineal descendant of Oliver Cromwell through the Tillestons. This tradition has been handed down in the Bell family but I was unable to clear it up until I had an interview with Hon. W. S. Allen, Ex-Secretary of State of the State of Iowa, who gave me the above information. See Allen record.

The descendants of William Bell and Elizabeth Stewart have fought in the defense of the flag in all the important wars of our Nation, and some of them have served with distinction. Why would it not be a good plan for some of their descendants to locate their graves in Mifflin County, Pennsylvania, to organize a memorial society among their descendants and erect a suitable monument to their memory?

The above family history I have received from my great-uncle, the late James B. Bell of Utica, Kansas, and from the family Bible of my grandfather, Davis Stewart Bell; also have the early history of the Bells received from George H. Jewett of Des Moines, Iowa, one of the organizers of Drake University, and who has served as Treasurer of that Institution ever since its organization, Mr. Jewett being a very wealthy man, a world traveler, having crossed the Atlantic Ocean twenty-one times, and himself a descendant of Massachusetts Bells.

Thomas Beach and Jane Allen, his wife, were Lee County pioneers and lived within two miles of my Grandfather's homestead for twenty years before they found out that Mrs. Beach and my Grandfather were first cousins. in her 72nd year of her age. She was born Feb. 4", 1778, at or near Dorstown (now Greenburg), Union County, where her

She made a profession of religion in early life, and was for at least 50 years a communicant in the Presbyterian Church, of her eleven children, ten survive, of whom seven were gathered around her dying bed. Mrs. Bell was a kind mother, and obliging neighbor and a cheerful christian. She loved God's ordinances, the preached word, and the social prayer meeting. During her last sickness she was not disposed to converse much, owing to extreme sickness, but she felt the savior's presence in the Redeemer. Her friends sorrow not as those who have no hope. To depart and be with the Lord is far better.

HON. DAVID STEWART BELL

The following is copied from the history of Lee County, Iowa, as taken from PORTRAIT AND BIOGRAPHICAL ALBUM, dated 1887.

David Stewart Bell was born in Mifflin County on the banks of the Juniata River, November 15th, 1811. He was the son of David Bell and Agnes Allen Bell. When he was still a youth he engaged as Clerk in the General Store of the Town of McVey, and afterward went into business of the same description himself. He was ambitious, and at an early age had partially marked out a future for himself. He was not satisfied with his condition or his prospects in his native State and in the fall of 1837 he started West, and after reaching Illinois, spent the winter in Joliet.

In the following spring (1838) Mr. Bell crossed the Father of Waters, came into the Territory of Iowa, and located at Ft. Madison. He then resumed his former occupation as Clerk, and the same year attended the first land sale at Burlington and made a purchase on Sections

8 and 9, Cedar Township. Meanwhile he continued his duties as a Clerk, and was gradually working himself into the confidence and esteem of the community. He was at once recognized as a young man of more than ordinary ability, and in due time was appointed Deputy Clerk of Lee County by John H. Lyon, the Chief and first Clerk of the County. The duties of this position he fulfilled with credit to himself and satisfaction to all concerned, and paved the way to rise still higher.

Hon. David S. Bell and Miss Sarah Stewart Reigell (Rail) were united in marriage in Ft. Madison the 1st day of January, 1840. Mrs. Bell was a native of Dauphin County, Pennsylvania, her birth occurring September 22nd, 1819. After marriage Mr. and Mrs. Bell remained in Ft. Madison until the following year, then returned to Ennisville, Pennsylvania, where Mr. Bell engaged in mercantile pursuits for the following seven years. During this time the country lying around the tract of land which he had purchased in Iowa being slowly improved and developed, and in 1848, having sold his business in Ennisville, Mr. Bell resolved to return to Iowa and settle upon his claim. Accordingly, accompanied by his family he once more came into Lee County and made preparations for the establishment of a permanent home. One of the first duties was the construction of a dwelling, which was built of logs. Into this the family moved, and it remained their home for about three years, giving place at the expiration of that time to a commodious brick residence.

Mr. Bell was successful in his farming operations, and added to his first purchase as time passed by. He finally became the possessor of 480 acres, nearly all of which was finely improved. He remained upon the farm the remainder of his life, and was gathered to his final rest on the 12th day of January, 1878, at the age of 67 years.

Mr. Bell was a man highly esteemed in his community and always ready to assist in the promotion of every worthy object. His judgment and opinions were sought and his advice considered safe to follow. He was decided in his views, but firm and temperate in the expression of them, and made no enemies of those who differed from him in opinion. He held the various offices of this township and in 1870 represented his County in the thirteenth General Assembly. During his early manhood he belonged to the Whig party, but latter affiliated with the Democracy. Mrs. Sarah Rail Bell was the fit companion of her husband in his early toils and struggles, sympathizing with his worthy ambitions and rejoicing in his successes.

The household circles consisted of seven children as follows: Helen, born in Iowa, October 30th, 1840, died in Pennsylvania in May, 1843; Benjamine A., born in Pennsylvania March 18th, 1848, died May 11th, 1943; Agnes S. became the wife of Isaac Reeves, and lives in Salem; Thomas A. resides on the old homestead; Zachary T. (see obituary), Lucretia C., born April 27th, 1851, died in 1865; the youngest child a daughter died in infancy. The faithful wife and mother departed this life in February, 1873, at the age of 54 years.

The family burying ground is in the Sharon Cemetery, situated about five miles from the old homestead. A short time before the death of the daughter, Agnes Bell Reeves, she had erected a fine monument in the honor of these worthy pioneers of Lee County, Iowa, taking the place of the grave stones that had been erected before.

The name Reigall was changed to Rail, and I have been unable to reconcile the fact whether my grandmother was New York Dutch or Pennsylvania German descent, but the name Reigell indicates that she was of Dutch descent and her ancestors were from New York State. About the year 1886 I was in a home near Warren, Iowa, and the lady of the house told me that she attended the dance given in honor of my grandparents wedding and that Mrs. Bell was a very beautiful woman. Her mother's sister, Ann Mohlar, married John Studebaker, who was then a blacksmith in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and head of the Studebaker family in America. See Will of John Mohlar on file in Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

The descendants of Davis S. Bell and Sarah Rail Bell gather together and have their annual reunion near the homestead above set forth on the last Sunday in July of each year.

THOMAS ALLEN BELL

BELL died at his home in Salem at fifteen minutes after twelve o'clock, January 6th, 1893, THOMAS ALLEN BELL, aged 47 years, 5 months and 2 days.

He was the son of the late Hon. D. S. Bell and S. S. Bell, deceased. He comes from an old and respected line of Scotch Irish Presbyterians (Corrected Ulster Scotch). Was born in McAllaries Fort, in Huntingdon County, Pennsylvania, August 4th, 1845. Emigrated to this State in the fall of 1848, his parents settled on the farm in Lee County on which he resided until the last four years when he moved to Salem, Henry County, Iowa.

He was mustered in the 14th Iowa and 8th Iowa Cavalry but was rejected on account of age and statute. He was married to Elvira C. Harlan, August 10th, 1866. They had issue who survive him: Frank S., Cora E., wife of John Byers and Grace E. He united with the Church in 1867, and was received by the Congragational Church in Salem January 1st, 1893. Was a member of G.A.R. and I.O.O.F. and took great interest in all their meetings, also was Vice President of Henry County Soldiers Association.

His funeral occurred Sunday the 8th from the Congregational Church. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Rogers of Mt. Pleasant. The funeral was a large one and on every hand were those who not only expressed sympathy with the friends, but who born themselves the tears of a sorrowing heart.

Every year the Father calleth
Some loved one to endlee rest.
And the Hear tho' filled with anguish
Can but cry he loveth best.

Every year some hand has finished
All its work for others here
And we miss a voice, whose accents
Fell like music on our ears.

And the eyes that smiled so sweetly
Ansvering back each look of love,
New are gazing on the glories,
Of the beautiful realms above.

But a year not distant cometh,
When we tread the vast unknown,
We shall find our ransomed dear ones
Seated round the great white throne.

GEN. WILLIAM BELL

One of Mifflintown's aged and most highly respected citizens has finished his earthly career.

A familiar and commanding figure who for more than three quarters of a centry has moved in and out of this community leaving upon old and young its impress for good has been taken away. The dark angel of death, that dread enemy of all mankind laid its pallid hand upon him on Monday morning, May 21st, 1900, and the martial manly form is fallen, and the flashing eye is dim. Gen. William Bell, commanding in person, displaying more of the elements of physical strength and culture than most of his class, of strong mind, keen intellect, firm in his devotion to the right as God gave him to see the right, a good counsellor, faithfully devoted to friends, patient, enduring and forgiving to enemies, standing a pover of strength for good in the citadels of sin in this world has gone the way of all flesh.

"Man's life is but as grass
Soon out of sight we pass."

While lost to the sight, the impress of his Christian character and correct life will be felt in this community during the years to come.

Gen. Bell was born August 11th, 1817, on Bell's Island in the Juniata River. His father, William Bell, and his mother was a Bryson, a descendant of John Harris, the founder of Mifflin-town. They were of Scotch-Irish birth, that hardy race of people who came into this country when it was a wilderness inhabited by savages and wild beasts and built for themselves a home. The rich farms, the beautiful homes that the valleys of Juniata now possess were given to us by the valor and courage of this hardy race of people. The son, William, was reared on the farm in the river, with two sisters, Mrs. Irwin, now deceased, Mrs. Sharon, still living in Ohio. In 1843 he was elected high sheriff of Juniata County. This being the only civil office he ever held as the trend of his mind was toward the military and in the earlier forties he was Major, Lt., Col., and Brigadier Gen. of Malitia in this valley commissioned by the Governor. In 1850 he was Lt. of a company of men known as the Mifflintown guards and from 1852 to 1864 was Capt. of the American Artillery of Mifflintown, Pa.

When the rebellion broke out he recruited a company, was elected its Captain, and in Nov., 1861, he was promoted to Major and on July 2d, 1864, to Lt. Colonel. He was assigned to the First Brigade of Blakesley's Division of Calvary of the Army of the Potomac, and at the Battles of Solomon's Gap, Pleasant Valley and Cramptons Gap he commanded the brigade. Gen. Blakely in his reports of these engagements stated that at Pleasant Valley, Col. Bell, in command of the First Brigade held Rhoade's whole division of rebels in check until the 2nd Brigade was brought three miles to his assistance and that in all these engagements Col. Bell led his brigade gallantly. His services in the war, extending over a period of nearly three years were marked with many incidents of heroism and faithful patriot devotion to the flag he followed and which he loved. In an engagement at Charlestown, Virginia, he was seriously wounded. He was not one given to boasting of his achievements or deeds.

On October 8th, 1864, he was honorably discharged from the service and returned to his home in the Juniata River farm where he remained for some years, then moved to Mifflintown and engaged in mercantile pursuits in Patterson and Philadelphia, finally engaging in the agriculture implement business in this town until about one and one-half years ago when he retired. He was a charter member of Union Lodge No. 324, A.F. & A. M. of which there are only two remaining, a member of Lt. David H. Wilson Post, No. 13⁴ G.A.R. and at his death one of the trustees and Post Surgeon, and a member of the Union Veteran Legion. In religion he was an Orthodox Presbyterian and its creeds were firmly fixed in his heart and like the martyrs of olden times could not be shaken. He was a ruling Elder in the Westminister Presbyterian Church at the time of his death and for a number of years previous. For many years his strong melodious voice rang out in songs of praise to the God he loved from the choir in the Church. And now this faithful public official, this brave soldier, this good citizen, this strong Christian, sleeps his last sleep.

"No sound can awake him to earthly glory again."

The G.A.R. Post/which he was a member turned out to perform the last sad rites and tenderly lay away forever all that is mortal of a beloved comrade. The funeral services were held in the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock and were conducted by his esteemed friends, Revs. Pomeroy, Mathers, Kelley and Campbell. In addition to the relatives and friends the Church was filled with a sympathetic throng who came to pay homage to the deceased. Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery and his grave is marked by a large boulder which a few years ago he had transferred from the island, his birth place.

OBITUARY MENTION

Died at her home in Trego County, at 4:00 o'clock Monday afternoon, July 3rd, Mary Elizabeth Bell, ages 79 years, seven months, and fourteen days. Death resulted from dropsical affections from which she had been suffering for some time. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, July 5th, interment being made in the Utica cemetery. Services were held at the home, conducted by Rev. Everett of Wakeeney, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. James Bell was born near Lewistown, Pennsylvania, November 19th, 1825, her maiden name being Mary Elizabeth Irwin. Her father was a patriotic citizen, taking up arms in defense of his country in the war of 1812. His children became orphans at an early age and were raised by their relatives, after which they lived together until they separated to pursue their several ways of life. Her brother died in 1858, the victim of a railroad accident, and her sister followed in 1889. Mary Elizabeth Irwin was married to James B. Bell April 6th, 1847. To their union was born two children, Chas. M. and Nellie A., the son survives her, the daughter having died of heart disease November 25th, 1897, at Albia, Iowa, the wife of Ira Noble. The family moved west in 1849, located in LaFayette, Indiana, and from there moved to Trego county, Kansas, in 1880, living through all the vicissitudes of pioneering in a new country.

Grandma Bell was a charitable woman -- she lived to give to the poor -- was possessed of a true Christian spirit, and the world is better for her having lived. She was refined, cultured, and a lady whose character was spotless. She was a model mother and her blessed influence is reflected upon the lives of her children and all who have come in contact with her. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church and a zealous Church worker. To those who stand within the shadow of this death and feel that they have lost a mother's love and a wife's companionship are the son and husband, besides three grandchildren, for whom we express the deepest sympathy in this the hour of their bereavement.

We wish to express to the kind friends who assisted us during the sickness and death of our loving wife and mother, our heart-felt thanks and gratitude.

She was Agnes Susanne Bell before her marriage, the daughter of the Hon. David Bell and Sarah (Reigle) Bell. She was born near Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, September 23, 1843, and at an early age came with her parents to Ft. Madison, Iowa, later moving to a farm in Lee County. She attended a school in West Point, conducted by Dr. Roor, one of the few schools for young women at that time.

Near the close of the Civil War she was married to Isaac Clark Reeves and moved to Salem where their five children were born and educated in the Quaker school named for the poet Whittier.

In 1891 the family moved to Keokuk where Mr. Reeves conducted a drug store until shortly before his death in 1915, having been in that business for almost fifty years.

Since 1925 Mrs. Reeves has made her home in Omaha with her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Fisher, spending a part of each summer in Mt. Pleasant with her other daughter, Mrs. Frank Price.

Through her long life she was a devoted Christian--the Bible her daily guide. She was a member of the First West-minister Presbyterian Church in Keokuk. One of her strong characteristics was her steadfast friendships. No friend was ever lost to her.

Funeral services were held at the Price home in Mt.

Pleasant by the Rev. Harrell of the Congregational Church of Salem, to which Church Mrs. Reeves belonged while a resident there. Burial was in the cemetery at Salem where three generations of the family are buried. The pallbearers were two sons, Harry Reeves and Bert Reeves, both of Chicago, also two sons-in-law, W. W. Fisher and C. H. Cook, close friends of the family.

married Robert T. Lincoln.

Second: Andrew Jackson Harlan, the only surviving member of the 33rd Congress, and the intimate friend of Henry Clay.

am firmly of the opinion that William Bell and Elizabeth
